THE WEEKLY HERALD

"I COME, THE HERALD OF A NOYAL WORLD, THE NEWS OF ALL NATIONS LUMBERING AT MY BACK."
VOL. XVI. HARTFORD, KENTUCKY, MARCH 26, 1890. NO. 13.

SHORT And to the Point.

We will not detain you but a minute this week—not a week this minute.

We have said that we make some of our clothing that we buy from manufacturers of repute who make goods for our order, especially for our Kentucky Trade; that we PAY CASH for what we BUY and therefore buy for less than we could buy on credit; that we SELL EXCLUSIVELY FOR CASH and take no risks on collections in city or country, and that we can and do SELL FOR LESS than any other house can afford to sell.

NOW, all we risk to any farther, at present, is that, having a reputation for the best goods and lowest prices, and for fair dealing, we are determined to sustain that reputation; and in order to extend our trade, we GUARANTEE to furnish you clothing for the Spring and Summer of 1890 cheaper than you ever purchased similar goods, and to give you entire satisfaction as to style, fit and quality.

If you are not coming to the city soon, write us and we will tell you how to get what you want by express, without risk of night, or of paying for something you don't want.

THE FEMALE SEX.

And the Tortures She Underwent for Her Sick Country's Sake.

My home was in the little village of P.

After a little while bed time came and I trembled for the consequences, for with all my eyes I could see only two beds in the little room where I had all this time been sleeping.

After I was alone, I took the first of my little bed, and I lay down.

A feeling came to me, as if I were being kissed, and I felt as if I were being kissed.

OUR GREAT GAINS.

A Political Victory in Several States—Indications From Local Elections.

An occasional victory in local elections would be of no significance, but a succession of gains in local elections in different localities scattered over the country means that public sentiment is setting in a changed direction.

In Iowa, too, the local elections showed decided Democratic gains.

A LITTLE ROMANCE.

Rival Lovers Make a Bet, but the Winner is Not the One Who Wins.

I heard an interesting little romance when I was in Toronto the other day.

It was a story of a young man and a young woman who were in love.
